

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

PREFACE.

WHAT is Quakerism ? This is a question which, however strange it may appear, seems to have puzzled many members of the Society of Friends of late years, and by others is much misunderstood. The answer is, notwithstanding, very simple, for, in the words of WILLIAM PENN, it is neither more nor less than "a new nick-name for old Christianity," or "Primitive Christianity revived ;" but split up and divided in principle and practice as Friends are in the present day, so that old or primitive Christianity may be said to be scarcely known, it still remains a puzzle not only to many amongst them, but to others ; and it is hoped that this Catalogue may prove one means of opening the eyes of some, and by examining both sides they may be able to arrive at the truth.

This work does not include (except in a few instances) any entry of books written by antagonists who once belonged to the Society, such as BUGE, KEITH, CREWDSON, and others, that being already done in my Catalogue of Friends' Books, lately published ; but this contains an account of all books (as far as has come to my knowledge) written by those of other religious denominations, &c., and the reader will perceive on examination that the greatest adversaries the Society had to contend with, in early days, were the Nonconformist Divines.

Having no desire to misrepresent any of the authors whose names appear in this book, though holding views differing from my own, I have taken the short sketches or biographical accounts mostly from sources furnished by their own bodies or favourable to them ; and in order to give some further idea of what those men were, I have occasionally added the titles of some other works not bearing upon the subject in view.

The greater number of the volumes recorded here may be found in the British Museum, and in the Library of the Society of Friends at their Meeting House, in Houndsditch, London ; and I have given, reference to where others may be met with ; and may also state that I have many of them constantly on sale.

BOSSUET, James, a celebrated French Prelate, was born at Dijon in 1627. He completed his studies at the college of Navarre, and having taken his degrees in Divinity, became Canon of Metz. On account of his fame as a Preacher he was invited to Paris, where in 1669 he was made Bishop of Condom, and appointed preceptor to the dauphin, to whom he addressed his Discourse on Universal History, which is the best of all his works. Soon after his appointment of tutor he resigned his Bishopric, as incompatible with that employment; but in 1680 the King made him Almoner to the Dauphiness, and the next year Bishop of Meaux. In 1697 he was nominated Counsellor of State, and soon after first Almoner to the Duchess of Burgundy. He was also admitted a member of the French Academy, and constituted Superior of the College of Navarre. Bossuet distinguished himself greatly by his Sermons, particularly the funeral ones on illustrious personages: nor was he less celebrated as a controvertist. His "Exposition de la Doctrine de l'Eglise Catholique," was received with uncommon marks of approbation by the members of his Communion, and is said to have wrought powerfully in converting many Protestants. In 1686 he published the "Histoire des Eglises Protestantes," which was refuted by several able writers. He died at Paris in 1704, and was buried at Meaux. Mrs. Antonia Bourignon's Confession of Faith, publickly presented by her to the Court of Gottorp, to oppose the malicious Reports which some had industriously raised, to make the purity of her Doctrine and Sentiments be suspected.

- I. I am Christian, and do believe all that a true Christian ought to believe.
- II. I am baptis'd in the Catholick Church, in the Name of the Father, in the Name of the Son, in the Name of the Holy Ghost.
- III. I believe the Twelve Articles of the Creed, or the Apostles Symbol, and don't doubt of any one Article of it.
- IV. I believe that Jesus Christ is true God, and that He is also true Man; and likewise that he is the Saviour and Redeemer of the World.
- V. I believe in the Gospel, in the Holy Prophets, and in all the Holy Scriptures, both of the Old and New Testament.

And I will live and die in all the Points of this Faith, which I protest before God and Men to all whom it may concern.

In testimony whereof, I have subscrib'd this my Confession with my Hand, and seal'd it with my Seal.

In a Relation of a Disputation at Chesterfield in the County of Darby, between some Ministers of the Gospell, and James Nayler an erring Quaker. The Questions disputed were these foure: 1. Whether the Spirit of God speaking in the Scripture, be the Chiefe Judge of Controversies of Faith? Affirmed by us Ministers of Christ. 2. Whether the private Spirit in the Pope, or in any Quaker, be the Chiefe Judge of Controversies? Denied. 3. Whether every man be bound to look to the light within him (as sufficient) for his direction to attaine Salvation? Denied. 4. Whether it be lawfull to call any man Master or Father, upon earth, or to give any honour to man? Affirmed. In which, The Truth is confirmed, and the Quaker's Errors and Blasphemies discovered, and confuted, and many places of Scripture from the Quakers false applications, cleared, With some Animadversions upon a lying Relation, of that disputation, BOWLES, Edward, M.A.—was the Son of Oliver Bowles, of Sutton in Bedfordshire. He was for some time Chaplain to the Earl of Manchester, but upon the reduction of York was constituted one of the 4 Ministers maintained by the State in that City with honourable stipends.—He was elected to the Vicarage of Leeds, April, 1661.—but, through the favour of the times, Dr. John Lake (afterwards Bishop of Chichester) was instituted into that Vicarage. Mr. B. preached his course at the Minster on the Wednesday Lecture, and once a month at Tadcaster, where he was often set upon by the Quakers.—Being asked, in his last illness, what of Conformity he disliked? he answered, "The whole." He died at the age of 49, and was buried on the eve of Bartholomew-day, 1662.—His person was tall and handsome; his deportment, modest and obliging.—Palmer's Nonconformists' Memorial, Vol. 2, p. 680.

he took his degree of Master of Arts. Here he composed his catechetical Lectures, the publication of which induced Bishop Compton to choose him to superintend the Church of Maryland, as his Commissary. This appointment he accepted, but before his departure he was careful to employ useful Missionaries, for whom he procured Parochial Libraries, as one method of rendering their labours more effectual. This judicious plan was afterwards extended to England and Wales, under the authority of an Act of Parliament. Previous to this, he took his Doctor's Degree, and it was by his exertions that the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel was founded. Having thus prepared the way for making the Office which he held serviceable to the great end in view, he sailed from England in 1699, and remained in America above 2 years to settle the Churches. In 1706 he accepted the Rectory of St. Botolph, Aldgate, from which time to his death in 1780 he laboured incessantly in works of piety, particularly in establishing and enlarging his favourite plan of Parochial Libraries, the Association for which is still in a flourishing state. Besides his Lectures, he published "A Martyrology," in folio; Bibliotheca Parochialis," 2 vols, 8vo.; and other works.—Biog. Britt.

BULL, George, a learned Prelate, was borne at Wells, in Somersetshire, in 1684. He was educated at Twerton School, in Devonshire, from whence he removed to Exeter College, Oxford; but on refusing the engagement he retired in 1649 to his native County. Having been ordained he became Minister of St. George's near Bristol. In 1658 he was presented to the Rectory of Siddington, in Gloucestershire.—In 1705 he was consecrated Bishop of St. David.—He died in 1709, and was buried in the Church of Brecknock.—From his Life, by Nelson.

This George Bull has written several theological Works, but I do not find any of them against Friends, he was nevertheless an adversary, and for some particulars concerning him I refer the reader to John Roberts's Life.

BUNYAN, John, was born at Elstow, near Bedford, in 1628, He learnt to read and write, and followed his Father's business, which was that of a travelling Tinker. For some years he led a dissolute life, but at length he began to study the scriptures. About 1655 he became member of a Baptist Congregation at Bedford, to whom he occasionally preached; for which at the Restoration, he was taken up and confined in Bedford gaol 12½ years, supporting himself and family all the while by tagging laces. It was here that he wrote his "Pilgrim's Progress," which has gone through numerous editions and been translated into Foreign languages. On his release from Prison, he became Teacher of the Baptist Congregation at Bedford. He died at the house of one Mr. Straddock, a Grocer, at "The Star," on Snow Hill, in the Parish of St. Sepulchre's, London, after 10 days sickness; and was buried in the New Burying-place, near the

Another Account,—

CAFFIN, Matthew, was a native of Horsham, Sussex: and was expelled from the University of Oxford, for embracing and defending believers' baptism. He joined the General Baptist Church at Horsham, and was soon called to the work of the ministry. His labours were assiduous and his success was great. He was frequently engaged in defending the principles of the Baptists, especially against the Quakers. He is distinguished as the principal supporter of those doctrines whose introduction proved so destructive to the denomination. He died in 1714, aged 86 years.—Wood's History of the General Baptists, p. 155. 8vo. 1847.

CALAMY, Edmund, an eminent Divine among the Dissenters, was Grandson of Edmund Calamy, Author of "The Godly Man's Ark," and other works. He was born in 1671. Having completed his education at different Schools in England, he was sent to Utrecht; and in 1694, was ordained at London, in the Presbyterian way. After officiating to different congregations, he succeeded Mr. Alsop in Westminster. In 1702 he published an abridgment of Baxter's Life and Times, with an account of the ejected Ministers; a subsequent edition of which was enlarged to four volumes. This work occasioned a controversy between the Author and Mr. afterwards Bishop Hoadly. In 1709 Mr. Calamy made a tour in Scotland, where the degree of D.D. was conferred on him by three Universities. He died in 1782. Besides the above, he published two vols. of Sermons and some tracts. He also left a large Manuscript by him, entitled "An Historical Account of my own Life and Times," which it is to be regretted has never been printed.—Biog. Britt.

CHUBB, Thomas, born 1679. He was bred a glover, but became tolerably versed in Mathematics, Geography, and many other branches of science. But Divinity above all was his favourite study; and it is said, that a little Society was formed at Salisbury, under the management and direction of Chubb, for the sake of debating upon religious subjects. Here the Scriptures are reported to have been read under the guidance of some commentator; and every man delivered his sentiments upon all points freely, and without reserve. About this time the Controversy upon the Trinity was carried on very warmly between Clarke and Waterland; and falling under the cognizance of this Theological Assembly, Chubb, at the request of the members, drew up and arranged his sentiments about it, in a kind of dissertation: which, after it had undergone some correction, appeared to the World, under the title of, "The Supremacy of the Father asserted, &c." and gained him great celebrity. He died at Salisbury in his 68th year, leaving behind him 2 vols of Posthumous Works, which he calls "A Farewell to his Readers," from which we may fairly form this judgment of his opinions: "that he had little or no belief of revelation; that indeed he plainly rejects the Jewish Revelation, and consequently the Christian, which is founded upon it; that he disclaims a future judgement, and is very uncertain as to any future state of existence; that a particular providence is not deducible from the phenomena of the World, and therefore that Prayer cannot be proved a duty; &c. &c." As licentious however as he may seem to have been in his way of thinking, he never was censured as licentious in his actions; nothing irregular or immoral, as it is agreed on all hands, ever appearing in his life and conversation.—Jones's Biographical Dictionary, 1794.

1679. He received a common education, after which he served his apprenticeship to a Glover, but that trade proving injurious to his eyes, he became partner with a Tallow Chandler. In 1715 he published a tract in favour of Arianism, when the Controversy was carried on between Drs. Clarke and Waterland. This introduced him to some gentlemen of eminence, and particularly Sir Joseph Jekyll, Master of the Rolls, who took Chubb into his family, but lessened the favour by requiring him to attend table as a servant out of livery. He died at Salisbury, in 1747. Aged 68 years.—Biog. Britt.

- VI.—An ENQUIRY into the Ground and Foundation of Religion. Wherein is shewn that Religion is founded in Nature. That is, that there is a right and wrong, a true and false Religion in Nature: And that Nature or Reason affords plain, obvious, certain principles, by which a man may distinguish these, and form a proper judgment in the case; and which an honest, upright man may safely and securely stay his mind upon, amidst the various and contrary opinions that prevail in the world, with regard to this subject. To which are added, I. A POSTSCRIPT, occasioned by the publication of Dr. STEBBING'S Visitation-charge, that had been delivered to the clergy of the Archdeaconry of Wilts. II. A short Dissertation on Matt. xix. 21. If thou wilt be perfect, go and sell that thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven: and come and follow me. Occasioned by Dr. STEBBING'S unjust and groundless reflexion on the author, with regard to this text in the aforesaid Charge. III. An Answer to a private letter, from a stranger to the author, on the subject of God's Foreknowledge. By THOMAS CHUBB.

London: Printed for Tho. Cox, at the Lamb, under the Royal-Exchange. Price 2s. . . . 8vo. 1740. 11½

- VII.—The TRUE GOSPEL OF JESUS CHRIST asserted. Wherein is shewn what is, and what is not that Gospel; what was the great and good end it was intended to serve; how it is excellently suited to answer that purpose; and how, or by what means, that end has in a great measure been frustrated. Humbly offered to publick consideration, and in particular to all those who esteem themselves, or are esteemed by others, to be ministers of Jesus Christ, and Preachers of his Gospel; and more especially to all those who have obtained the reputation of being the great Defenders of Christianity. By THOMAS CHUBB.

Acts xvii. 6. They drew Jason, and certain brethren, unto the rulers of the city, crying, These that have turned the world upside down, are come hither also.

To which is added A Short Dissertation on Providence.

- REMARKS on Mr. TEO. CHUBB'S short Dissertation on Providence. WITH ANIMADVERSIONS on his True Gospel of Jesus Christ asserted, In the Order following.

Sect. I. Remarks on his definitions and distinctions of Providence; together with his criticism on the sacred historian.

Sect. II. On his true Gospel of Jesus Christ asserted. More particularly, on his sixth Section, viz. what is not the true Gospel.

Sect. III. His scheme of Providence considered, as grounded on New Testament authority.

Sect. IV. On his more abstract reasonings on Providence.

Sect. V. The doctrine of Providence farther explained, and his scheme compared with what is here advanced.

Sect. VI. Inferences drawn from the whole.

With an INTRODUCTORY EPISTLE, wherein these REMARKS are particularly offered to Mr. CHUBB's consideration. By an ADVOCATE of the CHRISTIAN REVELATION. [i. e. CALEB FLEMING.]

London: Printed for D. Farmer, at the King's Arms, in St. Paul's Church Yard. (Price 1s. 6d.) . 8vo. 1788. 6½

- The Inspiration of the New Testament Asserted: The Integrity of the Sacred Writers Vindicated; and the Method of SALVATION by a REDEEMER Confirmed. In answer to a Late Book of Mr. Chubb's, Entitled, The True Gospel of Jesus Christ asserted. Humbly offered to Publick consideration, and in particular to all those who esteem themselves, or are esteemed by others to be Holders forth of New-Light, and Great Proficients in Moral Argument. In a Letter to that Author. By PHILELEUTHERUS CHRISTIANUS.

- X.—AN ENQUIRY CONCERNING REDEMPTION. Wherein the CHRISTIAN REDEMPTION is particularly considered. To which is prefixed, A PREFACE; Wherein is shewn, That if Christianity be not founded on Argument, but on those Divine Impressions that are made on Men's Minds concerning it, (as a late ingenious Author has attempted to prove;) then it is most uncertain and precarious, and cannot be reduced to any Standard. And in which is also shewn, that Christ's Kingdom has been so far from being supported, and established by the Interposition of Civil Power; that on the contrary it has rather been annihilated thereby. By THO. CHUBB.

London: Printed for T. Cox, at the Lamb, under the Royal Exchange. Price 1s. 6d. . . . 8vo. 1748. 7½

- XI.—The Ground and Foundation of Morality considered. Wherein is shewn, that disinterested benevolence is a proper and a worthy principle of action to intelligent beings. And in which is also shewn, what some of those absurd and bad consequences are, which naturally and obviously follow the doctrine of absolute selfishness; or, that self-good is the sole and universal principle of action in nature: Occasioned by the Rev. Mr. Rutherford's Essay on Morality. To which is added, the first section of the Author's farewell to his readers; namely, the introduction. Wherein those points, viz. of divine impressions on men's minds, of special grace, of the virtue and merit of faith, and of St. Thomas's unbelief, are particularly considered. By THOMAS CHUBB.

London: Printed for T. Cox, at the Lamb, under the Royal Exchange. 8vo. 1745.

- FOUR DISSERTATIONS, viz.

I. On the HISTORY of MELCHIZEDEK. From which it appears, that Abraham did not give Tithes to Melchizedek, but Melchizedek to Abraham.

II. On the Temper and Behaviour of ESAU and JACOB, the two Sons of the Patriarch Isaac. Whereby it appears, that Esau was much the better Man.

III. On the Conduct of BALAAM. In which that Prophet's Character is cleared of those Reproaches and Imputations wherewith it has been stained.

vindication of their principles. After issuing 4 books Muggleton says, "he grew so proud, and Lording over the Believers, saying, That no body could write in the vindication of this Commission, now John Reeve was dead, but he, and to that purpose he wrote another book, wherein he had proudly exalted himself into John Reeve's Chair, exalting John Reeve and himself, but quite excluded me. Whereupon I put him down, for ever writing any more. He continued thus 4 years, until the year 1661, and in a while after humbled himself to me, and acknowledged his fault, and I forgave him, but ty'd him not to write any more."

COLE, Thomas, was educated at Westminster School, from whence he was elected student of Christ Church, Oxford. In 1656 he became principal of St. Mary's Hall, where he was tutor to Mr. West, and many more divines of the Church of England, as well as other eminent scholars, particularly the great Mr. John Locke, who being a layman, continued in communion with the established Church, but discovered an high regard for those conscientious men who left it because they could not comply with the act of uniformity; and shewed an abhorrence of that act itself.—Mr. Cole, after his ejection from Oxford by the King's Commissioners in 1660, kept an academy near Nettlebed in Oxfordshire. He was a man of good learning, much of the Gentleman, and eminent for virtue and piety. [His character had been shamefully traduced as an encourager of immorality in his family, by one Wesley, who had been one of his Pupils.] He afterwards settled in London, and became one of the Lecturers at Pinner's Hall. He died in Sept. 1697.—Palmer's Nonconformists' Memorial, vol. 1, p. 198.

3. That Justification is not by imputed Righteousness.
4. That our good Works, are the Meritorious Cause of our Justification.
5. That a State of Freedom from Sin, is attainable in this Life.
6. That there is a Light in every Man, sufficient to guide him to Salvation.
7. That the Scripture is not the Word of God, nor a standing Rule of Faith and Life.
8. That there is no Resurrection of the Body.
9. That there's no need nor use of Ordinances, Baptisme, Lord's Supper, &c.

DELPHIC Oracle. (The)

ARISTOBULUS, i. e. THOMAS WOOLSTON.

—A Letter to the Rev. Dr. Bennet. (Answers to the Writers in the Delphic Oracle.) 8vo. 1720.

DENNE, Henry, was educated at the University of Cambridge.
 The first living he obtained was that of Pyrtou in Hertfordshire, which cure he held for about ten years. About the year 1648, he publicly professed himself to be a Baptist, and was baptized by immersion at London, and joined himself to the congregation of that persuasion there, of which Mr. Lamb was the Pastor. He died a little after the Restoration, and upon his grave was put, by a Clergyman of his acquaintance, this epitaph,

“To tell his wisdom, learning, goodness unto men,
 I need to say no more, but here lies Henry Denne.”

- AN ESSAY ON INSPIRATION: or An Attempt to shew that the Pretences of the ancient and the modern ZANZUMMIM, to that RAY OF DIVINITY, were, and are, Deceptions. Wherein the Fundamental Principles of BARCLAY, in his APOLOGY for the QUAKERS, are refuted; the Necessity of an External Revelation proved, and the Fiction of an Internal one exploded. With a Hue and Cry after the ENTHUSIAST; his PERSON described; and his FRENZIES delineated. By JOHN DOVE, Author of the CREED founded on Truth and Common Sense, &c.

QUAKERS to fetch their Pedigree do rake
The Scriptures over, and make MOSES quake;
HABAKUK quiver'd, so did DANIEL too,
Thus their Religion can't be new.
Yet if you read in JAMES*, there you may see,
Much older QUAKERS than the other three.

He was congregational in his principles, and one of an unspotted conversation. After being silenced, he continued to preach to his people in private often in the night, and not without much difficulty. Upon K. Charles’s indulgence he preached publicly in this town, to a numerous auditory, in a licensed house. He was a man of peace, and did not use to meddle with Controversies in his sermons. He died in the latter end of King Charles’s reign, and was buried in his own garden; not being allowed to be interred in, what was called, holy ground. Palmer’s Nonconformists’ Memorial, Vol. 2. p. 267.

DYKE, Daniel, M.A. Rector of Hadham Magna in Hertfordshire. of Cambridge University. He was born in 1617, at Epping in Essex, where his Father, the good old Puritan, Mr. Jeremiah Dyke, was Minister. He was Nephew to the famous Mr. D. Dyke, B.D. who wrote the Treatise of the deceitfulness of the heart. He had episcopal ordination. When he appeared in public he was soon taken notice of for his great learning and useful preaching, and was preferred accordingly. Besides having this Valuable living, he was made one of the Chaplains in Ordinary to Oliver Cromwell, and in 1658 was appointed one of the Triars of Ministers. He was of the Baptist persuasion, and appears to have been the only one of that persuasion, besides Mr. Tombes, in that commission. After he resigned his living, he preached as often as he had opportunity, and was generally preserved by some kind appearance of Providence from the rage and malice of his persecutors. He was at length chosen and ordained Co-Pastor with Mr. William Kiffin to the Congregation of Baptists in Devonshire Square, London, where he continued a faithful labourer to his death in 1688, when he was about 70 years of age. He was buried at Bunhill Fields, and Mr. Warner preached his Funeral Sermon. He was a man of so much modesty that he could never be prevailed upon to publish

EATON, Samuel, Of Oxford University. The Son of Mr. Richard Eaton, Vicar of Great Budworth in Cheshire, [and brother to Mr. Theophilus Eaton, the renowned Governor of New-Haven, Wood says of him, "After he had left the University. he took orders according to the Church of England, and was beneficed in this country; but having been puritannically educated, he did dissent in some particulars thereof. Whereupon finding his place too warm for him, he revolted and went into New-England, and preached among the brethren there."—But upon his dissent from Mr. Davenport, about the narrow terms and forms of civil government then imposed upon that infant colony, his brother advised him to a removal. Calling at Boston in his way, the Church there gave him a pressing invitation to settle with them; but he was full bent upon coming back to Old-England. where God had most work for him to do. Upon his return, he gathered a congregational Church at Duckenfield, and afterwards removed to Stockport, where he preached in the free-school. Some of the people here ran things to a great height, and grew wiser than their ministers, so that they occasioned him much difficulty. After he was ejected in 1662 he attended on the Ministry of Mr. Angier at Denton, as did many of his old hearers; who by difficulties and sufferings were wrought into a better temper. Mr. Eaton died Jan. 9, 1684, aged 68. He left no children, but he left a good name behind him among persons of all persuasions. [He was a very ECHARD, Laurence, an English Divine, was born at Cassam in Suffolk, about 1671, and brought up at Christ College, Cambridge, where he took the degree of M.A. in 1695. On entering into orders, he was presented to the livings of Walton and Elkinton in Lincolnshire. In 1699 he published his Roman History, in 8 vols. 8vo. In 1702 appeared his General Ecclesiastical History, in 1 vol. folio; afterwards printed in 2 vols. 8vo. In 1707 he published the first volume of his History of England, which he completed in two more volumes, in 1718. This work does credit to his candour and industry; but the Story of OLIVER CROMWELL and the DEVIL brought it into disrepute. In 1712 he was made Archdeacon of Stowe; and in the reign of GEORGE I., was presented to the livings of Rendlesham, Sudborne, and Alford, in Suffolk. He died suddenly in 1780. ✓ EDWARDS, John, (Son of THOMAS EDWARDS, Author of "The Gangrena,") was born at Hertford, in 1687. He received his education at Merchant Taylors' School, London; from whence he went to St. John's College, Cambridge, where he was chosen fellow. After the Restoration he was ordained and became Minister of Trinity Church, Cambridge. He was next chosen Lecturer of St. Edmundsbury, and soon after gave up his fellowship. From Cambridge he removed to the living of St. Peter's, Colchester, but after continuing there three years, returned and took his Doctor's degree. He died in 1716. Dr. Edwards was a zealous Calvinist and a most voluminous writer.—Biog. Britt.

The principal of his numerous works are the following,—

- The PREACHER. A DISCOURSE, Shewing, what are the Particular Offices and Employments of those of that CHARACTER in the CHURCH. With a Free Censure of the most common FAILINGS and MISCARRIAGES of Persons in that Sacred Employment. To which is added, A Catalogue of some Authors who may be beneficial to Young Preachers and Students in Divinity. By JOHN EDWARDS, D.D. (With a Portrait.)

(Brit. Mus. 4498. d.)

- The PREACHER. The Second Part. A DISCOURSE, Shewing, I. What Particular Doctrines ought to be Preached by the Dispensers of the Gospel. II. That these Doctrines are generally neglected, or (which is most usual) Preached against. III. What are the Causes of the Neglect and Opposition. IV. What are the Dreadful Consequences hereof. With continued Advice to Students in Divinity, and to YOUNG PREACHERS. To which is Annexed The HEARER: Or a Brief Discourse, Shewing what are the Qualifications that are Required in those Persons who would Receive Benefit and Advantage by Hearing the Word Preached. By JOHN EDWARDS, D.D.

London: Printed for J. Robinson, J. Lawrence, and J. Wyat.

8vo. 1707. 24
(Brit. Mus. 4498. d.)

- The PREACHER. THE THIRD PART.—Containing Farther Rules and Advices, for the Right Discharging of the Sacred-Office of PREACHING. With Animadversions on some Passages in the Book Entituled, The Whole Duty of Man, and in the late Writings of Dr. HICKES, Dr. NICHOLS, Mr. BENNET, Mr. CLARK, and Mr. DODWELL. Together with a Vindication of the first Part of the PREACHER from the Unjust Exceptions and Cavils of Mr. LIGHTFOOT and others. By JOHN EDWARDS, D.D.

London, Printed for Jonathan Robinson, John Lawrence, and John Wyat. 8vo. 1709. 22

Note.—On the fly-leaf of my copy of this Third part is written, by a former owner,—

“Abraham Nelstrap
at Inworth, 1753.”
Fr. Leicester.

“The Quakers,* th/_w their Errors in Doctrine, & Particularities in Practice set forth, at large and expos’d and trimm’d pretty handsomely. Pg. 55, &c., &c.

* It has been said of the Quakers,
“That they are Christians, without Baptism,
“A Church, without Sacraments, &
“A People without manners.”

And the Author in his Preface, to this Third Part, says, “I have more particularly Warned my Brethren against the Cheats and Impostures of the Quakers, for tho’ ’tis not to be denied that their Carriage in some respects is Laudable and Worthy of Imitation, in so much that they shall Rise in Judgment against this Debauched Generation, yet there are so many Faulty things in their Principles and Practice, that I cannot see how we can excuse ourselves from taking notice of them and sharply rebuking them.”

Contents of the Third Part (relating to the Quakers):—

Ministers ought chiefly to warn their People against the Sect of the Quakers, because

1. They take away the very Ground-work of all Christianity, the Historical parts of Scripture. p. 57, 58, 59, 60.
2. They lay the foundation of many Errors in their Doctrine of the Light within them. p. 61, 62, 63.
3. They deny the Doctrine of the Blessed Trinity. p. 64.
4. They hold Justification, not by Christ's Righteousness, but their own. p. 65.
5. They are great assertors of Absolute Perfection. p. 66.
6. They vilify the Holy Scripture. p. 67, 68.
7. They annul both the Sacraments of the New Testament. p. 69, 70.
- Their seeming strictness consider'd.* p. 73, 73, 74, 75.
- Remarks and Censures upon their Industry and Diligence.* p. 76, 77.

— The Quakers Answer, Answered, or, a SECOND STROAK at the Foundation of QUAKERISM: WHEREIN, The Quakers Forgery and Sophisms are Detected, their new Notions exploded, and Arguments for Water Baptism is Defended, PLAINLY, Proving Water-Baptism to be an Ordinance of our Lord Jesus Christ, and to be continued as such in the Christian Church to the end of the World.—ALSO, A plain Demonstration that the Quakers do not Baptize with the Spirit: That they are not Baptized with the Spirit: Neither do they know, what the Baptism of the Spirit is. By OSWALD EDWARDS, a real Friend to the Quakers.
Dublin: Printed by S. Powell, and sold by Samuel Cooper in Abbey's Street. . . . 8vo. 1723. 5½

— A Third STROAK at the Foundation of QUAKERISM: OR, a Letter to the People call'd QUAKERS. Wherein it is plainly proved, that Dr. William Dell of Cambridge, (whose Doctrine of Baptisms in a fifth Edition has been lately Published by them) was the Founder, and Confounder of Quakerism. And that he was Proud, Ignorant, and Incoherent, or Inconsistent with himself in his Sentiments. Also, Plainly proving, even from the Doctor himself, that the People call'd Quakers, are neither Baptized with the Spirit, nor able to Baptize any with it. And to the clearest Demonstration, that their Notion of the Spirit's Baptism is a notorious Absurdity; neither agreeing with the holy Scripture, nor their own Profane Writings.

Oh that some one could make the Quakers Quake,
And that poor People, from these Errors shake:
Which from the Pen of that proud School-man fell Whom they so much adore, vain Doctor Dell.

Lamentation, What shall I do unto thee, O thou poor Body of Quakers, thy Prophets have seen vain and foolish things, for thee False Visions, and Causes of Banishment.

— One Blow at the Feet of the Imposing Formal Quaker's Image: or rather an Epistle of Love and good Will to them, to show them their great Weakness (if not Folly) in saying Thee and Thou; and also for not putting off the Hat, and not paying of Tyths; Writ by Nich. Eed, one of their Society, until J. Kilburne, and N. Geats [Gates] (two Preachers) were moved by a Proud and Lying Spirit, to cast great Reproachful Lies upon me, which in Justice (which is one of the least Marks of a true Christian) ought to make out their Assertions, or else to acknowledge their Failings; which I have long ago laid before them in Print.

Note—This John Endicott was a great Persecutor of Friends. How such a man can be called a Christian I cannot understand; yet his friends give him a most excellent character, as follows:—“Mr. Endicott was Governor of the Colony, and a very excellent and much respected man. He went to Salem in the year 1638, and had the chief command of those who first settled there, in whose difficulties and sufferings he largely participated. He continued there till the jurisdiction of Massachusetts desired his removal to Boston, for the more convenient administration of justice, as Governor of the Colony; to which office he was elected for many years with little inter-mission. In his time Quakerism began in Bristol; many fell in with it, and some gave him disturbance. Upon the Restoration he soon quitted the public pulpits. The Bp. courted him to Conformity, but he could by no means be satisfied to comply. He was often in prison, once for a whole year, where he preached twice a day. There he contracted a lethargic distemper, of which he died, aged about 60. He left a good name behind him.—Palmer's Nonconformists' Memorial, vol. 2, p. 851.

against the } Life of Mr. LOVE.

By occasion whereof, this Truth is asserted, viz. If we may judge of the Consience, Honesty, and Perfection of Quakers in general, by this man in particular, A man may be as Vile a person, as any under heaven, and yet a perfect QUAKER.—By Ralph Farmer, a Servant of Jesus Christ, who was crucified at Ierusalem, above sixteen hundred years ago, and whose Blood the Quakers trample under foot, as a common thing.

FIENNES, William, Lord SAY and SELW, was born at Great Broughton, in Oxfordshire, in 1582, being the eldest son of Sir RICHARD FIENNES, in whom the barony of SAY and SELW had been revived by JAMES I. He was educated at Winchester-school ; from whence he removed to New-College, Oxford, where he obtained a fellowship. In 1624 he was created a Viscount ; but in the Rebellion he took an active part against the crown, for which he was proclaimed a traitor. After the Restoration, however, he was rewarded with the offices of Lord Privy Seal, and Lord Chamberlain of the household. He died in 1662. Besides speeches in Parliament, he published tracts against the Quakers. His son, NATHANIEL FIENNES, was Governor of Bristol, when PRINCE RUPERT made himself Master of that place, for which the Parliament caused him to be tried, and he was sentenced to lose his head. But by the interest of his Father he obtained a pardon, and afterwards became a great favourite with OLIVER CROMWELL, whom he persuaded to assume the title of King. He published speeches and tracts ; and died in 1669.—Wood.—Clarendon.

There is also this Note at page 68, of the same,—

"Whether it was for the BUSINESS of Anointing, or not, we cannot tell, but on Monday the 15th of February, 1789, in the Evening, there was a MEETING, as it is said, of very strange PERSONAGES, at a Woman's in the BOROUGH, who is one of the People called QUAKERS. Joseph Bate formerly a Waterman, who goes about in a broad-brimmed white Hat, with long Beard, and white Cloaths, and used to preach on Walworth-Common against the established Church, was seen to attend upon the occasion. Whether he presided in the Assembly, or Mr. JONES, or Mr. JONES'S Wife, or either of the two COURTESANS who were supposed to come in one Coach, is uncertain; but there they were all together. The Meeting continued THREE HOURS, the BUSINESS of it is unknown; but if it was that of anointing, they were all well oiled in that time to be sure. &c., &c."

FULLER, Thomas, a Divine, was born in 1608, at Aldwinkle, in Northamptonshire, where his Father was a Minister, under whom he received his education, and then removed to Queen's College, Cambridge, of which his maternal Uncle, Bishop Davenant, was Master. Afterwards he obtained a fellowship in Sidney College; also a Prebend in the Cathedral of Salisbury, and the Rectory of Broad Windsor, in Dorsetshire. On losing his preferments in the civil wars, he became a Chaplain in the Royal Army, under Sir Ralph Hopton, who left him with the Garrison at Basing-house, which he successfully defended against the Rebels. After this he was at Exeter, as Chaplain to the Princess Henrietta Maria; but on the taking of that city, he withdrew to London, and became Lecturer of St. Bride's, Fleet Street. In 1648 he was presented to the Living of Waltham, in Essex, which he left in 1658 for that of Cranford, in Middlesex. At the Restoration he recovered his Prebend, was made Chaplain to the King, and created Doctor in Divinity at Cambridge. He died August 15, 1661. The principal of his works is,— town, and from the most distant colleges ; and it was crowned with the conversion of some scores (Mr. Stancliff says some hundreds) of scholars. It was the general opinion, that there was not a more convincing and successful minister in Cambridge, from the time of Mr. William Perkins, than he was. He was drawn from hence by Sir Arthur Haslerigge, with whom he went Chaplain into the North. There he was at first Minister at Bishop-Wearemouth, and from thence was invited by the members of Dr. Jennison's Church at St. Nicholas's in Newcastle, to assist the Dr. who was disabled, with a design to chuse him Pastor upon the Dr.'s decease. But he (for some reasons) not chusing that, continued only lecturer there till some time after the Restoration. He was then invited by a Society of Merchants to be their Preacher at Hamburg ; but their Charter being in a little time to be renewed and confirmed, the Lord Chancellor Hyde would by no means pass it till Mr. Hammond, who would not use the rites and ceremonies of the Church of England, was dismissed. So that upon the coming of a new President thither, he was not suffered to preach there any more, because of his Nonconformity. He removed from thence to Stockholm, the Capital of Sweden, where one Mr. Cutler, a Merchant from London, was very kind to him. From thence he went to Dantzick, for a few months. But England was the place of his desires, and hither he returned in the year 1665, and took up his abode at Hackney amongst some Merchants, with whom he had been abroad ; and there he preached occasionally, in his own and other families, and there he died, in the year 1666. He was universally reputed one of the most learned men, and best Preachers in the North ; and was highly valued by those foreigners whom he conversed with in his travels.—Palmer's Nonconformists' Memorial, vol. 2, p. 266.

HAWES, Thomas, an English Divine, was born at Truro, in Cornwall, about 1786. He served his time to an Apothecary, but afterwards went to Cambridge, where he took the degree of Bachelor of Laws. On entering into orders he became assistant to Mr. Madan at the Lock Chapel, on whose recommendation he accepted the presentation to the Rectory of All-Saints, Aldwinkle, in Northamptonshire, upon an implied promise of resignation; but when the time expired, he refused to give up the living, which occasioned much censure on the Calvinistic Methodists.

At last the Countess of Huntingdon compromised the affair, and her Chaplain held the living to his death. That Lady also entrusted him with the management of her chapels and the seminary which she had founded for the education of young students in divinity. When the Missionary Society was formed, he also took the lead in its direction, and obtained a doctor's degree from Scotland. He died in 1820.—Gents Magazine.

HAWORTH, William, of St. John's College, Cambridge. He was well skilled in the three learned languages, Latin, Greek, and Hebrew. After his ejection from St. Peter's Church, St. Albans, he was upon a certain occasion desired to preach a funeral sermon, but was hindered. Whereupon the congregation went to the cloysters in the Abbey. In sermon-time the soldiers came in to take him; and one of the hearers interposing to prevent it, was shot to death. Mr. Haworth was tried at the Assizes on this account, and was at last delivered, but fined; while the soldier escaped free. He lived afterwards for 20 years with a congregation at Hertford.—Palmer's Nonconformists' Memorial, vol. 2, p. 40.

Note.—This Author in the above work says concerning Friends, "Let us a little more particularly reflect upon that blasphemous Doctrine of the Quakers (now by their Industry, and our Contempt of them become a numerous Sect) concerning a spiritual Ministry and spiritual Worship, whereby they pretend that the Holy Ghost comes down upon their Assemblies, as it did in the Apostles time, and moves them to preach and pray by Inspiration, without any regard to Condition or Sex. Hence when they meet together they sit hanging their Heads in a silent and dumb manner, till the Spirit, as they pretend, shall move somebody; it is indifferent be it a Man or Woman, to preach or pray." He also says that Immediate Revelation is a dangerous doctrine published in our country by Robert Barclay, who was educated in the Scottish Convent at Paris. Besides which he classes James Nayler with Venner, Muggleton, and Reeve, and speaks of them as the Pseudo-Prophetical spirits of the age.

HIGGINSON, Francis, was educated at Emanuel College, Cambridge, until he was Master of Arts. Was Minister at Leicester, and afterwards invited by the Governour of the Massachusetts Bay Company to New-England.—He died in August, 1680, in the 48rd year of his age-

HIGGINSON, Francis, (his Son) was for a time School-Master at Cambridge; but having attained as much learning as New-England could then afford, he was desirous of visiting some European University; and being recommended unto Rotterdam, some Dutch Merchants, out of respect unto an hopeful scholar of New-England, contributed some four score pounds in Money to assist his Juvenile studies at Leyden. Afterwards he returned to England, and settled at Kerby-Steven in Westmoreland, hoping to do most good among the ignorant people there. But it pleased the God of Heaven to permit the first out-breaking of that Prodigious and Comprehensive Heresy Quakerism in that very place; and a Multitude of People being bewitched therein-to, it was a great affliction unto this worthy man; but it occasioned his writing the first Book that ever was written against that Sink of Blasphemies, Entituled, The Irrreligion, &c. This learned person was the Author of a Latin Treatise, "De Quinq, maximis Luminibus: De Luce Increata; De Luce Creata; De Lumina Naturæ, Gratiæ & Gloriæ, and having Illuminated the House of God in that part of it, where our Lord had set him to shine, he went away to the Light of Glory, in the 55th year of his Age.—From "The Life of Mr. FRANCIS HIGGINSON.—In Cotton Mather's History of New-England, Book, III. p. 70.

HUME, David, was born at Edinburgh, April 26. 1711. He was destined for the law, but he took an aversion to it, and, in 1734, went to Bristol, with a view to the mercantile profession, which line, also, he soon relinquished; and resolving to make literature his pursuit, he passed over to France, where he composed his “Treatise on Human Nature.” This work he published in London in 1738 but its reception not answering his expectation, he printed a small analysis of it in a Sixpenny pamphlet, to make it sell. In 1742 he brought out with better success, the first part of his “Essays,” and soon after he became Secretary to General Sinclair, whom he accompanied in his military embassy to the Courts of Vienna and Turin.—While at the latter city he republished his first work, under a new title of “An Enquiry concerning Human Understanding,” and, in 1752, appeared at Edinburgh his, “Political Discourses,” which were followed the same year by his “Inquiry concerning the Principles of Morals.” In 1754 he published the first volume of his “History of England,” which he did not complete till 1761. While this work was in progress he printed a piece, with the extraordinary title of “The Natural History of Religion,” which was attacked with just severity by Warburton, in an anonymous tract, ascribed at the time, to Dr Hurd. In 1768 Mr. Hume accepted an invitation from the Earl of Hertford, to attend him on his embassy to Paris, where he of course, experienced a cordial welcome from those called Philosophers. While in France he formed an intimacy with Madame de Boufflers, and a correspondence was carried on between them, which lasted till within a few days of Hume’s death. In 1767 he became under Secretary of State; but, two years afterwards, he retired to Edinburgh, where [he died, August, 25, 1776. Life by Ritchie.

KENNET, White, was the Son of Basil Kennet, Rector of Dunchurch, and Vicar of Postling, in Kent. He was born at Dover in 1660, and had his name, White, from his mother's father, who was a Magistrate of that town. He received his education at Westminster-School, and went from thence to St. Edmund-hall, Oxford, where he took his Master's degree in 1684, and the same year was presented to the Vicarage of Ambrosden, in Oxfordshire. In 1689, as he was shooting, the gun burst, and wounded him in the forehead, so that he was ever after obliged to wear a patch of black velvet. After this he became Vice-principal of St. Edmund-Hall; and, in 1698, was presented to the Rectory of Shottesbrooke, in Berkshire. In 1699 he took his Doctor's degree, and the next year obtained the living of St. Botolph, Aldgate. He now became popular among the low church party, and had a controversy with Atterbury respecting the rights of Convocation. In 1706 he was employed by the Booksellers to superintend a collection of English Historians, and to continue the work, of which a second appeared in 1719, in 8 vols. folio. He made himself conspicuous by a funeral Sermon preached for the first Duke of Devonshire in 1707, which gave great offence, as an apology for the sins of the great. The same year he was made Dean of Peterborough; but so obnoxious had he now made himself by his party zeal, that Welton, the Rector of Whitechapel, caused his Portrait to be exhibited in the character of Judas, in the altar-piece of that Church. This act of indecency was properly resented, and the Painting removed. In 1718 he was made Bishop of Peterborough. He died in 1728. The Bishop was an able Antiquary, and particularly conversant in the Northern Languages.—Life by Newton.

LAWRENCE, Edward, Vicar of Baschurch, in Shropshire. Of Magdalen Coll. Cambridge. Born at Moston in this County. Upon his removal from the University, he fixed in this Vicarage, which was small as to Maintenance, tho' not as to work; and was near the place of his birth. Here he continued, without seeking any greater place, till the Bartholomew Act ejected him, at which time he had eleven strong arguments against Nonconformity, viz, a wife and ten children; but he answered them by his faith in God. —He was driven from Whitchurch by the violent prosecution of the Conventicle-act in 1670, when he removed to London, where he spent the rest of his days. He died suddenly in Novr. 1695, aged about 68. He wrote the following Works,— —— Parents groans over their wicked Children.

—— Christ's Power over bodily diseases, &c.

—— A Sermon in Morning Exercises against Transubstantiation, and a Funeral Sermon, on 1 Cor. vi. 18.

¹ LESLIE, Charles, (Son of JOHN LESLIE, a Prelate) was born in Ireland. He received his education at Dublin, after which he became a Student in the Temple, but relinquished the Law, and entered into orders. In 1687 he was made Chancellor of Connor, where he displayed great firmness in opposing the Papists, particularly the titular Bishop, with whom he held a disputation. He also prevented the intrusion of a high-Sheriff of that persuasion, though appointed by the King himself. Notwithstanding this zeal for the established religion and the laws, Mr. Leslie could not transfer his allegiance to a new government, by taking the Oaths to William. He therefore quitted Ireland, and settled in London, where his pen was employed with great power on political and theological subjects. In the reign of Queen Anne he wrote a weekly paper, called "The Rehearsal, or a view of the times;" in which, besides combating the Sceptics, he attacked Locke and Hoadly on the Doctrine of government. To promote the interests of the exiled family, he made frequent excursions to the Court of St. Germain's, and he even accompanied the Son of James the Second to Italy; but being convinced that the cause was hopeless, he returned home, and died at Glaslough, in Ireland, April 18. 1722. His theological works, of which the most considerable are his treatises against the Deists and Socinians, were printed in 2 vols. folio. His "Rehearsals" have been collected into 4 vols. 8vo; and also in 6 vols. 12mo. His other political pieces are too many to be enumerated.—Biog. Britt.

published in 1695.—It is a reply to an Adversary. "When God gathers up his Jewels, many of those that have been judged Heretics, will rise Saints, and many of those that your Churches have canonized for Saints will rise Devils! For no Persecutors of Conscience will escape the stroke. If any man object Paul's persecuting the Church, they may know that Paul at that time acknowledged no Jesus at all; therefore when both sides acknowledge a Jesus, take heed how you persecute!"

Since writing the above paragraph, I have met with the following Inscription—taken from the Church-Yard,* Spinning-Wheel-Alley, Old Bethlem. Mr. Ludovick Muggleton, died Monday, March 14, 1697, in the 88th year of his age.

"Whilst Mausoleums and large Inscriptions give;
Might, Splendor, and past death make potent live,
It is enough to briefly write thy name,
Succeeding times by that will read thy fame;
Thy deeds, thy acts, around the globe resound,
No foreign soil where Muggleton's not found!"

This is a singular instance of the extravagance of the followers of this now almost forgotten Prophet. I have been down to the ground, and no stone tells where the Prophet lies.—Evans's Sketch of the Denominations of the Christian World, 18th edition. 1814.

— A Transcendent Spiritual Treatise upon several heavenly Doctrines, from the holy spirit of the man Jesus, the only true God, sent unto all his elect, as a token of his eternal love unto them, by the hand of his own Prophet, being his last Messenger, and Witness, and forerunner of the visible appearing of the distinct personal God in power and great glory, in the clouds of Heaven, with his ten thousands of personal Saints, to separate between the elect world, and the reprobate world, to all Eternity: Containing those several Heads set down in the next page following. John Reeve and Lodowick Muggleton, the two last Witnesses and true Prophets of the man Jesus, the only Lord of Life and Glory, sent by his holy Spirit to seal the foreheads of the Elect, and the foreheads of the reprobate, with the eternal Seals of Life and Death, and suddenly after we have delivered this dreadful Message, this God the man Jesus, will visibly appear to bear witness whether he sent us or not: ye that are the blessed shall patiently wait for the truth of this thing. If any of the Elect desire to speak with us concerning anything written in this Treatise, they may hear of us in Great Trinity Lane, at a Chandlers

— THE ANSWER TO WILLIAM PENN, Quaker, His Book, Entituled, The New Witnesses proved old Hereticks. WHEREIN He is proved to be an ignorant Spate-brained Quaker, who knows no more what the true God is, nor his secret Decrees, then one of his Coach-horses doth, nor so much; For the Ose knoweth his Owner, and the Ass his Master's Scrip, but Penn doth not know his Maker, as is manifest by the Scriptures, which may inform the Reader, if he mind the Interpretation of Scripture in the Discourse following. I. That God was in the Forme, Image and likeness of Man's bodily Shape, as well as his Soul from Eternity. II. That the Substance of Earth and Matter was an eternal, dark, senseless Chaos, and that Earth and matter was eternal in the Original. III. That the Soul of Man is generated and begot by Man and Woman with the Body, and are inseparable. IV. That the Soul and Body of Man are both Mortal, and doth die and go to dust until the Resurrection. V. That to fulfill the Prophecy of Esaias God descended from Heaven into the Virgin's Womb, and transmuted his spiritual Body into a pure natural body, and become a Man-Child, even the Childe Jesus, Emanuel God with us. VI. That God by

"This is to certify you that I have sent seven books of the Interpretation of the Witch of Endor. I did intend the Answer to Isaac Pennington should have been printed also; but it did miscarry in the Press.

"I never was so crossed in all the books as I have printed, as in these two; for this of the Witch of Endor hath been for six months in the Printer's hands; but with much difficulty, and trouble, and charge, I have got it safe out of the press: but because this Printer was so base, and kept it so long, I put the other to another Printer, thinking to have it done before this, and so it would; but through the forgetfulness of the Printer, not taking the copy in his pockets as he thought to do, he went out and left the copy and proof of one sheet upon the press with his servants, and the searchers came immediately up stairs and took it, and would have carried it to the Council; but the printer made friends for money, else he would have been utterly undone; for it cost the printer seven pounds, and me five pounds to pacify the matter, and not get it done neither. But I have preserved the copy, most part of it, and hereafter I do think to print it, but not at present, it will be no ways convenient."—Spiritual Epistles, 2nd edition, 1820, p. 279.

He was an excellent, useful, and solid divine, a man of an happy memory, a great presence and readiness of wit; a mighty opposer of the factions and hurries of the times. He had much trouble with the Quakers, whom he often confuted in occasional and set disputations. He was an excellent disputant, and never lost or disparaged his cause or his reputation by ignorance or passion. In the latter part of his life he preached to a private congregation at Pontefract. He died Feb. 11, 1679, aged 68 years.—Palmer's Nonconformists' Memorial, vol. 2, p. 575.

✓ NORRIS, John, an English Divine, was born in 1657, Collingborne-Kington in Wiltshire, of which place his Father was Minister. He had his education at Winchester-School, and next at Exeter-College, Oxford, from whence he removed to a fellowship in All-Souls, where he took his Master's degree in 1684. He was presented to the Rectory of Newton St. Loe, in Somersetshire, in 1689; and in 1691 to that of Bemerton, near Salisbury, where he died in 1711. Mr. Norris was much attached to the Platonic system; and he is accounted one of the most eminent of the Idealists.—Biog. Britt.

NOTCUTT, William, Son of JAMES NOTCUTT, of Wrington, near Bristol, in Somersetshire, was born in the year 1672. After making great proficiency in learning and going through the usual forms, he was placed under the tuition of the “Rev.” WILLIAM PAYNE, of Saffron Walden. He commenced preaching in 1705, and was ordained Pastor over a Church of Christ, at Thaxstead, in Essex, where he continued for nearly twenty years. Soon after his settlement there he married MARTHA PAYNE, the daughter of his Tutor. In the year 1724, the Church and Congregation in Tacket

Street, Ipswich, on the death of their Pastor, "Rev." THOMAS MILWAY, invited Wm. Notcutt to succeed him, here he continued preaching nearly thirty two years, till his death. He was buried in the ground belonging to the Meeting-house in Tacket-street, and on the tomb over the vault in which his remains were interred, is the following inscription,—

THE REVEREND
MR. WILLIAM NOTCUTT

Died July 17th, 1756.

Aged 84 Years.

Of temper heavenly, and of soul sincere,
In converse pleasing, and in conduct clear :
In all a pastor's various work approv'd,
By numbers blest, and e'en by all belov'd.
With ev'ry gentle, social virtue drest,
Of smiling patience ev'n in death possess'd.
All these were NOTCUTT'S honours thro' his stay
In these low regions, till he dropt his clay,
And soar'd triumphant to the realms of Day.

OASLAND, Henry, M. A. He was born of sober and reputable parents in the parish of Rock. From his childhood he was strongly inclined to learning, and bent upon the ministry. He was educated under the Curate of the Parish, and at the Free School at Bewdley. He was admitted to Trinity College Cambridge, while Dr. Hill was Master.—After spending 4 years in the University, he went to see his Friends, intending to return and pursue his studies. But the famous Mr. Tombs, after his dispute with Mr. Baxter in Bewdley-Chapel, leaving the town, the Magistrates prevailed with Mr. Oasland to succeed him in 1650. The next year he went to London, and was ordained in Bartholomew, near the Exchange, by Mr. S. Clarke, Mr. Simeon Ashe, &c. In the printed testimonial of his ordination (then usual) the words relating to the taking the covenant were rased out, as he had not taken it, nor was it then insisted on as formerly. When he was of a Master's standing, he went to Cambridge, and took that degree. He was the legal Minister of Bewdley, from whence he was unwilling to remove, tho' he had considerable offers, because there were so many excellent Christians in the town. He continued his public labours here till Aug. 24, 1662. He died on the 19th of October, 1708, aged about 80.—Palmer's Nonconformists' Memorial.

ODDY, Joseph, M.A., Fellow of Cambridge University, was born at Leeds. Besides his fellowship he had the living of Mel-dred in Cambridgeshire, but lost both by his Nonconformity. He afterwards retired to Willingham in the Isle of Ely, [where Mr. Bradshaw, after his ejection, had formed a Church in his own house, and had preached unmolested 5 years. To escape the troubles which threatened him in 1687 he went to London, when Mr. Oddy succeeded him, and preached not only to this people but all over the fens.] —He was once confined 5 years together, and a great while with Mr. Holcroft, to whom he was assistant.—Upon the indulgence in 1672 he removed to Cottenham, and gave himself up entirely to Itinerancy till his death, which happened May 8, 1687. He was buried by the side of his colleague Mr. Holcroft, in a piece of ground which the latter purchased for a burying-ground, at Oakington, where a decent Tomb was erected for them both. It may not be amiss here to insert Mr. Oddy's smart repartee, on being insulted by one of the wits of Cambridge, after he was released from Prison, in the following extemporary lines ;

"Good day, Mr. Oddy,
 "Pray how fares your body?
 "Methinks you look damnably thin ;"

[Mr. Oddy's extemporary reply.]

"That, Sir's your mistake,
 "'Tis for righteousness sake,
 "Damnation's the fruit of your sin."

OWEN, John, a learned Divine of the Independent persuasion, was born at Stadham, in Oxfordshire, where his Father was Vicar, in 1616. He studied at Queen's College, Oxford, but, after taking his Degrees in Arts, he turned Nonconformist; and in the Rebellion distinguished himself so zealously, that the Committee for purging the Church appointed him to the Living of Fordham, in Essex, from whence he removed to Coggeshall, in the same County. The very day after the murder of Charles I. he preached a Sermon before the House of Commons, and he made himself so acceptable to the men in power, that Cromwell took him to Ireland, where, however, he did not remain long. He next accompanied Oliver to Scotland, and in 1651 was made Dean of Christ Church, Oxford; on which appointment he received his Doctor's degree. He served

PENDARVES, John, A.B., was born in Cornwall, in the year 1622, and educated at Easter College, Oxford. In the year 1642, when the Nation was involved in war, he left the University, took part with the Parliament, and says the Oxford historian, "having a voluble tongue for canting, went up and down preaching in houses, barns, under trees, hedges, and elsewhere." Though this is evidently designed to blacken his memory, his conduct herein was surely as commendable as that of many of the episcopal clergy, who stretched all their power to obtain numerous rich livings, but did not preach at all. "But," says he, "at length he turned Anabaptist; and having obtained a great multitude of disciples, made himself head of them, defied all authority, contradicted and opposed all orthodox ministers, challenged them to prove their calling, and spared not many times to interrupt them in their pulpits, and to urge them to disputes. After several challenges, Dr. MAYNE, of Christ's Church, undertook to be his Respondent; and, according to appointment, they met September 11, 1652, in Wailington Church, Oxfordshire, when an innumerable company of people assembled: but PENDARVES being backed by a great party of Anabaptists, and the scum of the people who behaved themselves very rudely, the disputation was interrupted, and so came to nothing. He was lecturer at Wantage in Berkshire, and Pastor to the Baptist Church at Abingdon in the same County. Our Author adds, that "he accounted himself a true born Englishman; but, because he endeavoured utterly to undo the distressed and tottering Church of England, he was undeserving of the name. And as he did these things for no other purpose than to obtain wealth, and make himself famous to posterity; so it would be accounted worthy, if by my omission of him his name could have been buried in oblivion." This bitter writer nevertheless, allows him to have been a tolerable disputant. MR. PENDARVES died in London, in the beginning of September, 1656, aged 84 years. His remains are said to have been carried to Abingdon, in a sugar cask filled up with sand; where they were interred, with great funeral solemnity, in the Baptists' burying-ground. He was a Fifth-monarchy-man; and being famous among the party, his interment drew together so great a concourse of people, that the government took notice of it, and sent MAJOR-GENERAL BRIDGES, with a party of Soldiers, to attend at Abingdon on the occasion. The numerous assemblage of people spent several days in the religious exercises of praying and preaching, which was attended with some rude behaviour and confusion."—*Benjn. POOLE, Matthew,—continued.

Michael-le-Querne, London. In 1662 Mr. Pool was ejected from his living for nonconformity, on which he undertook his great work, the "Synopsis Criticorum." This immense body of biblical criticism, originally published in 5 vols. folio, was reprinted at Frankfort in 1678; again at Utrecht, by Luesden, in 1686; and a fifth edition of it appeared at Frankfort, in 1709, in 6 vols. folio. While thus employed our author wrote some books against Popery, and he began also, "English Annotations on the Holy Bible;" but proceeded no farther than the 58th chapter of Isaiah, the remainder being completed by other hands, in 2 vols. folio. When Oates gave an account of the popish plot, in the list of those who were to be taken off by it, the name of Mr. Pool was found, which induced him to go to Amsterdam, where he died in 1679.—*Gen. POYNTEL, Daniel, Rector of Staplehurst in Kent. Of Cambridge University. He was born at Chislehurst, and was famous in all the County for his extraordinary natural and acquired abilities, eminent piety, sweet temper, and great moderation; his generous principles, great acquaintance with and interest in the Clergy, his rational and yet earnest way of preaching, and learned expositions of difficult places of scripture; in a word, for being an honour and ornament to the Church, and her champion too, excepting her hierarchy, against which he was always vehement. His peaceable spirit was troubled with some unquiet Baptists and Quakers. Once, expounding that chapter in which we are warned to avoid such as 'appear in sheep's cloathing, but inwardly are ravening wolves,' he touched upon the Quakers; one of whom came to his church the next Lord's-day, and declared he was sent of God. But Mr. Poyntel being then in the course of exposition upon the next words, the Quaker said he was disappointed, for he expected his farther insisting upon the other. Hereupon Mr. Poyntel took advantage convincingly to argue that the Quaker was not, as he pretended, sent of God, who certainly knew what subject he would be upon, and would have informed his messenger, or at least have suited his message to the occasion. His Tuesday's lecture in this place was very famous, and was much frequented by the neighbouring parishes, to hear his explication of the principles of religion, and the obscure passages of the prophets. As soon as the licenses came forth in K. Charles II's reign, he began the meeting in Staplehurst, which was crowded very much during the remainder of his life. He died in 1674. Being obliged to take down the windows of the meeting-house to let in air upon a former occasion, the place being mightily thronged, he took so violent a cold as threw him into a fever, and carried him off delirious in a few days.—Palmer's Nonconformists' Memorial, vol. 2, p. 68.

✓ PRYNNE, William, a political writer, was born at Swanswick in Somersetshire in 1600. He was educated at Bath, and next at Oriel College, Oxford, from whence he removed to Lincoln's Inn. In 1688 he was prosecuted in the Star Chamber for a libel entitled, "Histriomastix," when he was sentenced to pay a fine of £5000, to be expelled the University of Oxford, and the Society of Lincoln's Inn, and after losing his ears in the Pillory, to be imprisoned for life. In 1687 Prynnne fell again under the censure of the same court for another libel, when he was doomed to lose the remainder of his ears, to have his cheeks branded, to pay another fine of five thousand pounds, and to be perpetually confined in Caernarvon Castle, but afterwards he was removed to Jersey, where he remained till the meeting of the Long Parliament, when he entered London in triumph. He was soon after elected Member of the House of Commons, where he distinguished himself as the leading manager in the prosecution of Archbishop Land. Prynnne, however, opposed Cromwell as vehemently as he had done the King, for which he was sent to Dunster Castle; but in 1659 he was restored to his seat. He was instrumental in the recall of Charles II., for which he was appointed Keeper of the Records. In 1661 he fell under the censure of the house for publishing an address to the Peers, against a bill then in progress respecting Corporations. He died in 1669. ROGERS, John, an English Divine, was born at Ensham in Oxfordshire, of which parish his Father was Vicar, in 1679. He entered at New College, Oxford; but in 1698 he obtained a fellowship in Corpus Christi-College. After completing his degrees in arts, he was presented to the Vicarage of Buckland in Berkshire, from whence he removed to London, and became Lecturer of St. Clement Danes; and also of Christ Church, Newgate Street. In 1716 he was instituted to the Rectory of Wrington in Somersetshire; and some time after elected Canon residentiary of Wells, of which Church he became Sub-dean. In 1719 he published a book entitled "A Discourse of the visible and invisible Church of Christ;" which he afterwards defended against Sykes, in "A Review of the Discourse." For these Performances, the University of Oxford presented him the Degree of Doctor of Divinity. In 1726 he was appointed Chaplain to the Prince of Wales; and about the same time he published, "Eight Sermons on the Necessity of Divine Revelation," against Collins, who retorted in a "Letter to Dr. Rogers;" which drew from the latter "A Vindication of the Civil Establishment of Religion." In 1728 he was presented to the Vicarage of St. Giles, Cripplegate. He died the year following; and after his decease, two volumes of his sermons were published, with some account of his life; and two tracts on Popery and Nonconformity.—Biog. Britt.

ROSEWELL, Thomas, M.A., of Pembroke Coll., Oxford, Rector of Sutton Mandevile, in Wiltshire. He was born at Dunkerton near Bath, May 8rd, 1680. [His father died when he was not above 10 years old, and left him a plentiful fortune, much of which was wasted in his minority. His Uncle, being his guardian, sent him to school at Bath, where he made a good progress till the Civil War began to rage, when the King's Army taking that Garrison, the School was broke up. About this time, travelling a little from home, he saw K. Charles I. in the field, sitting at dinner under a tree, with a few persons about him; which made such an impression on his mind as disposed him to the greater compassion and loyalty to that unhappy monarch. He continued with his Uncle till 1645, when he sent him to London, to be put to some trade. Here Providence cast him under the ministry of Mr. Mat. Hawland, which was blessed for his conversion at the age of 16. He was put to a Silkman in Cheapside, but being troubled with a weakness in his eyes, the colours of the silk were offensive to him; so that he was taken from this business. He was afterwards fitted for the University. After a time he was presented to the Rectory of Rhode in Somerset. In 1657 he removed to Sutton Mandevile. Upon his ejectment in 1662, he travelled into several counties. He afterwards removed to Rotherhithe. I presume that ROBERT MACQUARRIE was also the Editor of this edition of the Letters; In the Postscript he says, "Quakerisms may be truly called, [if the terms be sufficiently expressive of the thing] pure Devilisms. I mean not only because of what special power and influences Satan hath been observed by gracious and grave men, to have had over, and upon the bodies and Spirit, of not a few of that monstrous brood; but also because, these have liked up, and swallowed down the dung of all these desperate soul-destroying heresies, hatched in hell by the Father of falsehoods and lies; and whatsoever is in any of these most deadly and damnable, that is to them their darling."

SHEFFIELD, John, Rector of St. Swithin's, London Stone. Of Peter House, Cambridge. He was addicted to seriousness and piety from his youth. He spared no pains in preaching or praying, while the times allowed the public exercise of his ministry, or in discourse that tended to edification.

His life was an example of his book called Conscience. He formed his sermons not from monastic contemplations in his cell, but took for a ground-work such things as occurred from observations on mankind as well as from self-reflection. How much he picked up from his conversation with men, to warn and advise them against vain excuses for sin, his facetious book on that subject sufficiently testifies. After his expulsion from his Church in London, he retired to Enfield. He died in a good old age, and retained his faculties to the last.—Palmer's Nonconformists' Memorial.

Note.—The Author, in reprinting these tracts, says in his Preface,—“The Dispute with the Quakers has suffered some change; not in the Relation of any Matter of Fact (which had not been just) nor yet by any Addition of New Arguments (which seemed needless) but by retrenching several Things which upon more mature and deliberate Judgment, I thought might very well be spared. I have however ventured to add one very short Piece to the rest, which I thought might be useful to some who may not perhaps be entirely satisfy'd with the Foot upon which the general Controversy proceeds.”

The following sentence occurs in the original, which is one he has thought best to retrench,—“But I cannot forbear repeating it, that the Quakers are a very dangerous Sect. Their word doth eat as doth a Canker, and threatens the Ruin of Christianity, having seized upon its vital Parts.”

STEPHENS, Nathaniel, M.A. Rector of Fenny-Drayton, in Leicestershire. Of Oxford University. His father was minister of Staunton-Barnwood, in Wilts. This living of Drayton was not, as Wood reports, a sequestration; Mr. S. was duly presented by the Patron Mr. Purefoy of Berkshire. Here he lived till the violence of the cavaliers, who threatened plunder, imprisonment and fine, drove him to seek sanctuary in Coventry. There, during the continuance of the war, he preached on Lord's-day mornings in the great church. At his return to Drayton he had trouble from some Baptists. The most noted Quaker in England, George Fox, came out of his little parish; but he learnt not his Quakerism there. Mr. Stephens had much discourse with him, tho' with little effect. He thought his time better spent in instructing a teachable people; which he did very diligently. Being ejected for his Nonconformity in 1662, he continued in the town for some time, preaching privately, but was afterwards so molested, that he was forced to remove seven times for peace. At last he fixed at Stoke-Golding, STILLINGFLEET, Edward, a learned Prelate, was descended from a Yorkshire family, but born at Cranbourne in Dorsetshire, April 17, 1685. He became fellow of St. John's College, Cambridge, but left the University to live with Sir Roger Burgoyne, who gave him the living of Sutton in Bedfordshire. In 1659 he printed his "Irenicum, or Weapon Salve for the Church's Wounds," intended to reconcile the Episcopalians and Nonconformists, though it failed of pleasing either party. This was followed by his "Origines Sacræ," which went through several editions and has been lately reprinted at Oxford. In 1664 came out his "Rational Account of the Protestant Religion;" for which he was made Preacher at the Rolls, Rector of St. Andrew, Holborn, and Prebendary of St. Pauls; upon which he took his degree of Doctor of Divinity. In 1677 he was promoted to the Archdeaconry of London, and the next year to the Deanery of St. Pauls. About this time he defended the right of Bishops to vote in Parliament in Capital cases, and his argument put an end to the Controversy. In 1685 he published his "Origines Britannicæ; or the Antiquities of the British Churches," folio, a work of standard authority on the ecclesiastical history of this country. At the Revolution he was made Bishop of Worcester, which see he governed with great prudence and liberality. At the close of his life, he embarked in a controversy with Locke, on some points in that writer's Essay concerning Human Understanding. The Bishop died in Westminster, March 27, 1699. SWEDENBORG, Emanuel, was born at Stockholm, Jan. 29, 1689. His father, who was Bishop of West Gota, gave him an excellent education, the fruits of which appeared in the publication of a volume of Latin poems, when Swedenborg was no more than twenty. In 1784 he published, at Dresden, his "Opera Philosophica et Mineralia," in 8 vols. folio; but his mind after this took a different turn, and he fancied that the spiritual world was opened to him, which disengaged his thoughts from TILLAM, Thomas, Baptist Minister of Hexham, in the County of Northumberland, formerly "a Messenger," as he styles himself "of one of the seven churches in London." He appears to have been originally a Catholic, and had travelled on the continent, but afterwards seems to have been converted to the Protestant faith, and to have united himself with the Baptists. He was selected by the church to which he belonged, to be a minister of the Gospel, as he gives himself the designation of "minister." He left Hexham in the year 1656, feeling himself unhappy in the church, (through some differences.) He is said to have afterwards gone to Germany, where, as a believer in the personal reign of the Saviour on earth, at the time of the millenium, he expected that reign to commence. It is also said, he died in Germany, but in what part we are

VOLTAIRE, Francis Marie Aronet de, was born Feb. 20, 1694, at Paris, where his Father was notary of the Châtelet and Treasurer of the Chamber of Accounts. He received his education in the College of Louis le Grand, and, while a boy, wrote some essays, for which Ninon de l'Enclos left him a legacy. He was intended for the law, which profession he declined, and on producing the tragedy of "Oedipus," his father suffered him to follow his inclination for letters. That play also procured his discharge from the Bastille, into which he had been thrown for writing satires on the government. This tragedy was followed by two others which met with such a cool reception, that Voltaire retired to England, and while here printed his "Henriade" by subscription, which proved so liberal, that it laid the foundation of his fortune. In 1780, he published his "Brutus," which was followed by "Zara," the most affecting of his tragedies. His next work, the "Lettres Philosophiques," gave such offence by its profaneness, that warrants were issued for apprehending the Author, who took shelter with the Marchioness du Châtelet. In this retreat he wrote his "Elements of the Newtonian Philosophy," which was then but little known in France. He also produced the plays of "Alzira" and "Mahomet," which last was censured as immoral and irreligious; but his "Merope," brought out in 1748, was received with such applause that the poet became a favourite at court, and was appointed gentleman of the bed-chamber and historiographer of France. In 1746 he obtained admission into the Academy of Sciences, on which occasion he broke through the old custom of panegyricizing Cardinal Richelieu; but this innovation created him so many enemies, that he retired to Luneville, and did not return to Paris till 1749. The year following he went to Berlin at the invitation of the King of Prussia, who made him one of his chamberlains, and gave him a pension. He had not, however, been long there before he had a violent quarrel with Maupertuis, for which he was ordered out of the Kingdom. He then purchased an estate near Geneva, but soon quitted that neighbourhood on account of the disputes which raged in that republic. He next fixed his residence at Ferney in Le Pays de Gex, which village became very populous after his settlement there, and numbers of Artists resorted thither, particularly watchmakers, who carried on a large trade under his auspices. At the beginning of 1778, Voltaire visited Paris, where he was overwhelmed with honors, the fatigue of which hastened his death on the 30th of May in that year. His remains were interred at Sellices, a Benedictine Abbey near Nogent. Different accounts have been related of his behaviour in his last sickness; but Trousseau, the Physician, asserted that the furies of Orestes gave a faint idea of those of Voltaire. His works are too multifarious to be enumerated here, and too well known to need any particular observations. The Historical ones are the best.—Dict. Hist.

London, Printed for T. Becket and P. A. De Hondt, in the Strand. 8vo. 1768. 7½

Note.—In this book (see p. 39) Voltaire says, "Wrongfully it is, that the great Philosopher LOCKE, has been reckoned among the enemies to the Christian religion. It is true, indeed, that his writings on Rational Christianity differ rather in some places from the common belief; but the religion of those Primitives, called Quakers, which makes so capital a figure in Pennsylvania, is still more wide of Christianity; and yet they are reputed Christians."

— The Quakers Answers In their Conference, which they say they have had, with the Kings Royal and Gracious Protestant Majesty, Are very full of close hidden dissimulation, and Treacherous Equivocations, For it appears, that under a mask, they would seem to appear to be obedient Protestants, also especially to our Royal and Gracious Protestant King, whom God in his great mercy hath placed over them here in safety, in his own rightfull inheritance and Kingly Dominions, even against all his enemies. But though they can so closely dissemble, yet their Quakish Books are extant, which do abundantly proclaim them openly to be, even of very certainty, of those Treacherous Blasphemous Antichrists, who do bring in damnable Heresies, denying the Lord that bought them; For it is witnessed that they do say, that they are not such fools, as to hope to be saved by that Jesus Christ that died at Jerusalem 1600 years agoe: and whereas the Holy Bible doth declare, that same Jesus to be the only Saviour of men, it is also witnessed that they say that the Bible ought to be burned; and thus apparently the Qua. do totally destroy, even the whole foundation of all Christian Religion, even root and branch, shewing, herein how apparently they are led, will they, will they; also to prove themselves to be of the Devil and not of Christ, and no marvel for our blessed Saviour doth lovingly tell us, That there shall arise false Christs and false Prophets, and shall shew great signes and wonders (as the Quakers do) insomuch that if it were possible they shall deceive the very elect, take heed that no man deceive you, behold I have told you before, Mat. 24. Written by Christopher Wade in the year 1660. this being my third Book by me held forth to all against the Quakers.

YOUNG, Samuel. He was an ejected Minister, and had suffered imprisonment on account of his Nonconformity. He was a man of some wit, and a good share of classical learning; but had a wildness and irregularity in his temper little short of madness, and was vehement and impetuous in everything he said or did. He succeeded Mr. Sprake at South Molton, where he had a fierce bigot to contend with, who almost distracted him—the parson of the Parish, who was a true High-Churchman. Mr. Young heard him preach a 80th of January-Sermon in the usual cant of the day; which so grievously chafed him, that when the service was ended he got upon a tomb-stone, and preached ex promptu in answer to it, on Matth. III. 10. The Axe is laid to the root, &c. This occasioned a most violent quarrel, and a paper-war ensued. Young worsted his antagonist by a letter written in Greek, for the Parson could not answer it, nor could he find anybody to do it for him. Feeling Young's superiority, he prudently quitted the field. But however the victory might gratify Young's vanity, the calm which ensued by no means suited his temper. His element was contention, and he could not live out of a tempest. He therefore moved to London, to enjoy it in its perfection, at the time when the republication of Dr. Crisp's works occasioned that warm debate between Dr. Williams and others. He then wrote as violently against the Antinomians as he had done before against the Baxterians. He afterwards engaged in several other controversies, and (as the writer of this account expresses it) died before he was quite mad.—Palmer's Nonconformists' Memorial, vol. 1, page 426.

— WILLIAM PENN and the QUAKERS either Impostors, or Apostates, Which they please: Proved from their avowed Principles, and contrary Practices.—By Trepidantium Malleus.

SINCE WRITING THE FOREGOING CATALOGUE THE FOLLOWING HAVE COME TO MY HANDS.

ALLEN, Thomas, of

- The Case of King Jehoshaphat and of the Church of England parallall'd; or, the Church's Fair Appeal, to the God of Truth, according to His Holy Oath and Covenant, against Her Combined Enemies the QUAKERS; for presuming, un-gratefully as the Edomites, &c., against Jehoshaphat, and Jeroboam against Ahijah, to thrust out her painful and laborious Clergy, from the Inheritance of the Lord, her Tithes; or at least to render them precarious, that may they insult her, and bring in an Inundation of Deism and wicked Principles to corrupt the Church of God.

It is Time for thee, Lord, to Work, for they have made void thy Law.—Psal. cxix. 126.

Qui in sancta fide sanus & integer permanere voluerit duplici modo numire fidem suam debet, primum scilicet, divina legis authoritate, tum deinde catholica ecclesiæ autoritate. Vincentius Lirinensis in Commonitor.

Fidem nos neque recentiore ab aliis conscriptam acceptamus, neque ipsi mentis nostræ fatus aliis obtrudere audemus; ne humana putentur pietatis verba, sed quæ a sanctis patribus edocti sumus ea nos interrogantibus annunciamus.—Basil. Ep. 60.
